Wedgworth Fights For Growing Land

Florida Sugar Cane League President George Wedgworth lashed out Tuesday against hunters who chase and kill deer from half-tracks and airplanes who are opposing development of the Everglades Agriculture Area.

The area under question is a six square mile tract of the Everglades Agriculture Area, partly owned by private agricultural interests and partly leased from the state in good faith for agricultural development.

Wedgworth appeared before Gov. Reubin Askew and the State Cabinet in a two-hour confrontation with hunters and "conservationists" who are trying to maintain the area as a wildlife preserve.

No decision was reached by Askew and the cabinet Tuesday and the area's status was maintained until a "major policy decision" can be reached, possibly by action of the state legislature.

There was some discussion as to whether the state should swap other land to be developed for the land in the six mile parcel.

Another possibility was that the state might declare the area environmentally endangered and buy it outright.

Wedgworth pointedly referred to opponents of the development as being interested in "hunting activities, rather than sportsman or conservation purposes."

"The real story," he said, "as to the activities of these groups and individuals should receive public attention."

"They travel under the disguise of being conservationists, sportsmen, environmentalists and ecologists, to promote their own self-interests in the protection of an activity that is diametrically opposite."

"Gentlemen," he said, "the wholesale slaughter of wildlife from mechanical apparatuses, called half-tracks and airplanes, is not sporting nor in the interest of conservation. To physically exhaust a deer by hot pursuit in this motorized equipment and either kill by shooting or throat cutting is not humane and should be exposed and stopped."

Wedgworth told the cabinet the current attacks on the development and agricultural use of both private and public land within the Everglades Agriculture Area of South Florida are so alarming the growers felt they needed to defend their right to produce food.

He said he felt the growers, in defending themselves, also felt the need to expose those who would take away from us these rights."

Wedgworth said the development of the Everglades Agriculture Area has been consistent with both federal and state policy for more than 50 years.

He also pointed out agriculture provided the economic justification for the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District for the Federal government and reminded the cabinet the counties in the area have zoned the entire area for agricultural purposes.

"Through out the years," Wedgworth said, "both private and public lands have been purchased or leased for agricultural purposes in the area in concern with this public policy."

He said most of the land has already been developed and is currently in production but said there still remains some undeveloped public and private land.

Wedgworth said private owners have continued to pay taxes on their undeveloped land, "looking forward to the day when economics would allow for full utilization."

"The state should also continue to promote the economic development of their lands as soon as possible," he said, "because of the deterioration of this area under undulating conditions due to oxidation and uncontrolled wild fires."

Wedgworth contended the continued development of the Everglades Agriculture Area is in the public interest not only because it fulfills the economic justification of the project, but will provide taxes, jobs and essential foods.

He told Gov. Askew and the cabinet the sugar industry will contribute a quarter of a billion dollars in gross value of sugar and molasses produced in the season now ending.

"Present and predicted shortages of sugar increase the importance of expanded production of this vital food," he said.

"Any attempt to adversely affect present and future expansion by restricting the use of designated agricultural land is of great concern to our industry."

Despite Wedgworth's pleas, Gov. Askew and the cabinet decided it should maintain the status quo on the six square miles of land under discussion and hold off development for the present.

Although one conservationist said farming in the area is killing off the wildlife, Wedgworth said the ranches and fields adjacent to the conservation areas now developed abound with deer at certain times of the year.

"We submit," he said, "that it could possibly be that they are occupying the onslaught of the aircraft and half-tracks. If the rest of the land in the agriculture area is developed, these type hunters with these machines will be excluded because the half-track and aircraft will not negotiate the levees and canals."

"Could this be what this matter is all about?"

A Belle Glade boy was killed in a fair condition in Glades General Hospital Tuesday after being pinned in his car about an hour following an accident Monday afternoon. Police officers and city firemen had to use a winch and cable mounted on a wrecker to pull open the sedan's door before Robert Kelly Clark, 16, of 100 N.E. First St. could be released from the car. Clark was crossing the Second Street Bridge when he was struck by a semi-truck driven by C.W. De Groot, 55, of Punta Gorda. Niklas De Groot was his passenger, Miss Neumann Ellyse, 21, of St. Paul, Minn., was injured. Sgt. William King said both drivers were charged with running the red light at the bridge and West Canal Street North.

Air Proposal Made Again

Mosquito Control Decision Put Off

The South Bay City Commission voted Tuesday to delay a decision on a proposal to control mosquitoes within the city by aerial spraying.

For the second consecutive year, Ag Air President Howard Barker proposed the city take to the air to bombard the bugs and the commission said they would consider the proposal and would probably let him know something in about a month.

Barker told the commission he thought the use of aerial applications has proven satisfactory in Belle Glade and Clewiston and said those cities have both recently signed two-year contracts with him after experimenting with his service for a year each.

He said he wouldn't be able to submit a bid as low as his two-year contract with Belle Glade because his price of 29 cents per acre per application was submitted before the recent drastic increase in the price of gasoline.

One proposal the commission made to cut costs would be that Barker spray the South Bay area at the same time he sprayed Belle Glade.

Barker said that would cut his costs because it would cut him almost as much to spray South Bay alone as South Bay and Belle Glade together, since he has to tear down and clean the system every time he uses it.

In other action the commission directed city building inspection Max Harrison to salvage the water line which must be covered by the four-lane of SR80 north of town.

The line runs from the city limits to the intersection of SR80 and SR715 and at one time connected the water supply systems of South Bay and Belle Glade.

Commissioner Woodrow "Woody" O'Neil said the line could be used to supply water to fire hydrants needed in the new Woodham subdivision.

Moved to donate $400 to the Glades branch of the Palm Beach County Community Mental Health Center at the request of Mrs. Mary Waters.

On the other hand, O'Neil said the commission should check into the finances of Meals on Wheels before making more contributions towards that agency since he and others have heard the state is helping fund the program.

Mayor Vernal Cox said the city hasn't made out a check to Meals on Wheels for the past two months.

Miami Dolphin Star Will Appear Here

Miami Dolphins football team center Jim Langer will be in Belle Glade Tuesday to promote the Army according to local U.S. Army recruiter Billy Wallace.

Wallace said Langer will be in and out of his office all day Tuesday and will be traveling around the Belle Glade area signing autographs and meeting prospective Army recruits.

Wallace said Langer will also be conducting a "sports clinic" at Glades Central High School at some point during the day.

Langer's claim to fame on the 1973 World Champion Dolphins team was that he started every game and played on every offensive play during the season.

The 6 foot, 2 inch, 250 pound lineman needed help just three times on 500 pass blocking assignments according to Miami offensive line coach Monte Clark.

He signed his first pro contract with Cleveland in 1970 as a free agent and spent part of the 1971 training camp with the Browns before coming to Miami on waivers.

DOLPHIN JIM LANGER to be in Belle Glade.

Federal $ For 80-27?

Inclusion of the four-lane projects for SR80 and U.S. 27 in the Federal Highway Administration priority primary program would mean "not much right now" according to one state official.

Florida Department of Transportation spokesman Terry Graham said Florida's share of the program would be so small and the priorities SR80 and SR27 are so low they may not be helped by the national "junior interstate" building program.

The two are included in the list of 16 projects totaling 209.8 miles of four-lane highway recommended last week for inclusion in the federal funding program.

The problem is, according to Miss Graham, that although the 1973 Federal Highway Act has already provided for the state to receive $2.78 million in the current fiscal year, $5.87 million in the 1974-75 year and $8.36 million in the 1975-76 year, no authorization has come for any state to spend any of the money.

Besides, the three year total for Florida amounts to little more than $16 million and DOT officials estimate Florida's primary road needs under the program would total more than $43.2 million.

Since the Congressionally appropriated funds for the three year period amount to no more than $400 million, and no word having been received yet on how any of the funds can be spent, little help is expected from the federal government.

The DOT ranked the SR80 project number four on the list with US27 following at number 12th and Miss Graham said she thought that, even authorization is given, the state will probably spend the money on the top few projects rather than spread it thin.

"If you four-lane a mile or two here and a mile or two there," she said, "that's exactly what you've got."

To qualify for the program, a road must bear heavy traffic loads and be connected directly to the interstate system.

Chosen by state transportation departments, the consultation with local officials, the priority primary highways must be ranked based on safety, traffic congestion, traffic volume, system integration, service to population center, industries and other traffic generators and usage by trucks and buses.

Postmaster Resigns In Belle Glade

Belle Glade Postmaster Ralph K. Causseaux will officially step down from his post Friday and a Palm Beach Gardens man will be sworn in as Officer in Charge.

West Palm Beach Postmaster Ronald Pitts confirmed the personnel change, saying Kenneth Turner, a 25 year veteran of the U.S. Postal Service, will take over Causseaux's duties.

Causseaux took over the position of Officer in Charge of the Belle Glade Post Office following the retirement of former Postmaster R.R. McKinley who retired June 15, 1973 and was later named Postmaster.

Causseaux has been in U.S. Postal Service for 15 years, all of it in Belle Glade office. He has his way through the ranks, the position of Superintendent before taking over the post.

Turner said he is originally from New York and moved to Florida in 1962. He said he doesn't expect to move to Belle Glade because he doesn't expect to be named the city's permanent postmaster.

"I'm going to try to improve the service," Turner said, "and if anybody wants to see me, I'm always available."

Stick 'Em Up!

We were the first newspaper in the county to come out in print criticizing the way the Policeman's Benevolent Association's Country Music Concert was being handled.

We were solicited over the phone for tickets to this concert by CRG Productions of Pompano Beach. The first solicitor didn't tell us the truth. He sent us a contribution sheet which listed the minimum donation at four times what the solicitor told us it was.

The second solicitor was just plain rude. When he called to see who was holding up our promised donation we told him what we thought about selling one thing over the phone and billing for something four times as much through the mail.

His response was, "You're just too cheap." Then he slammed the phone down in our ear.

Now, the newspapers on the coast have turned up the fact that CRG Productions, headed by Carl Gallo, is going to get almost 50 per cent of the net on the concert.

The secretary of state and the Palm Beach County Consumer Affairs Director have launched an investigation into the promotion. And well they should.

Unfortunately this promotion has given all law enforcement a black eye. Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department PR man, Frank Messersmith put it.

This is particularly true here in Belle Glade where the local police have felt the heat from this solicitation. According to one local police officer, the Belle Glade PBA is in no way connected with the county's PBA and in no way would benefit from the concert.

We have been promised a letter to the editor to go into more detail on this and we will print it as soon as it arrives. In the meantime though, the policeman's image throughout the county will have a long way to come back after this unfortunate affair.

Editorial On Hold

In this space we were going to run an editorial about the sewage problems in Belle Glade.

To make sure we had the latest information we called City Hall. After confirming what we already knew, we wrote the editorial.

Later in the day, however, we were called by City Manager William Mallory. He asked us to go over the city's sewer program with him in an effort to explain it more clearly to us.

After meeting with Mallory for over an hour we agreed to hold off on the editorial until we had performed on the Belle Glade Sewer system within the next two to four weeks.

At the end of that time we will comment further.

Spring May Be a Little Late This Year

Sugar Cooperative Sets Daily Average Record

The Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida will set a new record for the average number of tons of cane ground per day during the 105-day 1974 season according to Vice President William J. Miller.

Miller said the cooperative mill managed to grind a total of 1,756,296 tons during the season, with an average of 10,983 tons per day, ending up production Sunday.

"We had a fortunate year," he said, "considering the freezes we had in December and February. Our yield was higher than last year."

Miller said the mill had produced a total of 170,759 tons of raw sugar and 11,872,431 gallons of blackstrap molasses.

He said the mill had poly managed to tie, not beat last year's record of 13,140 tons of cane ground in any one 24-hour period but the 9.53 per cent yield, higher than last year's, helped the appearance of the figures.

"Now we can start to work," Miller said. "Now the real work begins of getting next season's crop ready and working on the expansion program here at the mill."

He said the expansion work is expected to be completed and ready for the 1975-76 season beginning in November 1975 and work is proceeding on schedule.

The multi-million dollar expansion project was announced last year and work was begun last fall to increase the plant's capacity in order to shorten the season.

Miller said it was still to early to tell much about the 1974-75 sugar cane crop but added he didn't expect the crop to be as good as the one just harvested because of the freezes the young plants were exposed to.

Households Going Soft

"Our new refrigerated machine cabinet or cupboard will tell you: American households are going soft."

That's how many shop-jobs, providing safety and convenience, are switching from glass to plastic containers for household supplies.

Last year, in fact, Americans took home nearly seven billion plastic bottles for a wide range of products, from foods and milk to floor care products.

Plastic's shatterproof quality is one reason for the switch. Open the average home medicine cabinet and you'll see shampoo, baby oil, talc, lotions and hair preparations—all packaged in plastic—jettison each other for position on the shelves.

And, plastic's unbreakability means no mess on the floor if the bottle slips from your hand.

Plastic bottles also have made themselves at home in kitchen cupboards. Last year more than 300 million plastic food containers were purchased off grocery shelves.

Consumers chose them for their lighter weight and the wide variety of grip-contoured handles and dispensing tops. Among food products you can buy in plastic containers are soups, salad dressings, fruits, spices, vinegars, syrups, honey, toppings and spreads.

Gallon milk containers in plastic are now becoming a familiar sight in home refrigerators.

Shatterproof plastic containers are also ideal for house floor care products that are in constant danger of being dropped, knocked over or let slip from one's hands.

Plastic bottle producers feel that by 1975 at least 70 percent of floor care products will be packaged in plastic.

With its great convenience, appeal, the plastic bottle is fast becoming one of the most popular members of the American home packaging family.

Instead of one, they recruited four — Mr. and Mrs. Myron Stevanus of Bloomdale, Ontario, Canada and their two sons, Peter, 14, and Glenn, 11.

With the assistance of the

off the record

with Glenn Laney

Last week wasn't the best one this paper had over had-and that is an understatement. We have one of the most modern type setting machines on the market today. And most of the time it functions like a charm. But not so last week. I came back in from selling advertising Monday afternoon and everybody was on the phone talking to Atlanta. That's where the machine's main office is.

Our little type setting computer is called a Compewriter and is put out by Compugraphic. Most of the problems you run into can be solved over the phone to Atlanta.

Compugraphic runs a repair service over the phone. Something goes wrong with your machine, you pick up the phone, call Atlanta and an engineer at the other end tells you how to fix it.

That's most of the time he tells you. But last Monday was one of those rare occasions when everything we were told to do made things worse rather than better. So one of their men in the field was dispatched to help us.

Unfortunately he had to come out of Cocoa Beach, so he couldn't get here until 12:30 Tuesday afternoon. In the meantime we are sending copy setting girls to both Clewiston and Pahokee—our sister papers—who have the exact same equipment as we do.

Without them we wouldn't have gotten anything out before about Sunday. Chuck Tanner was the Compugraphic field engineer who was dispatched to Belle Glade. Little did he know what he was getting himself in for.

Chuck arrived right at lunch time. We ordered him a hamburger which he ate here. And except for that short period of about 15 minutes when he was "dining," he never stopped working on the machine.

He never left this office, not even to eat, until he finished the job. That was at 10:15 Tuesday night!

To put that in its proper perspective for you, this machine was down for over 32 hours during our busiest part of the week.

Everyone on the staff pitched in to overcome the tremendous loss of time. We had typesetters in at 7 in the morning and picture shooters going home after 2 a.m. It is credit to the entire staff that the Belle Glade Herald got on the stands Wednesday at the normal time.

So for last week, please excuse our many mistakes. We did in about 16 hours what it normally takes 60 to do.

Last week wasn't a very good week for the Laney family as well. Old Cracker Crumbs down below has detailed the accidents both my wife and I had. So I won't bore you with the details of that.

But one thing does make me angry—and it would have made me angry even if I hadn't had a wife involved.

The reason the truck ever caught up with my wife in the first place was because a tractor travelling at 20-miles-per-hour with a safety truck behind it was using State Rd. 80. Now, this is a farming community and from time to time farm equipment does use the roads. And because they are farm equipment they are not going to be able to go anywhere near the speed limit.

But, when they see what is obviously a fast truck, they should at least have the courtesy to stop and see if anyone is seriously injured.

Unfortunately that didn't happen with my wife. The accident happened right behind the two farm vehicles and neither one stopped. They had to have seen it and if not seen it, they surely must have heard it. Yet, they went on their merry way.

According to the law as explained to me by the Florida Highway Patrol, they were legally required to stop. They were what is called a non-contact unit in the accident. But even if they weren't required by law to stop, you would think they would have the human decency to see if another human being was hurt or alive.

Enough of my troubles. Thanks for listening. In sure I'll be in a better mood next week.

TALLAHASSEE — When plans for the Florida Chamber of Commerce's Annual Tourism Day were completed a few days ago, it was discovered everything in the program was included but a genuine tourist.

So they decided to go out and find one.

Instead of one, they recruited four — Mr. and Mrs. Myron Stevanus of Bloomdale, Ontario, Canada and their two sons, Peter, 14, and Glenn, 11.

With the assistance of the Tallahassee Chamber of Commerce, a local Holiday Inn and other Florida business, the Stevanus are getting a royal tour of Florida.

After Tallahassee Holiday Innkeeper Red Bradley located the family and provided them with free lodging, they were taken for a glass bottom ride and jungle tour at Walt Disney World near Orlando and Springs. Dinner was hosted by "Mr. Florida Tourism" Dick Pope of Cypress Gardens.

This morning as Tourism Day began, they were introduced to Governor Reubin Askew and the Florida Cabinet, including the Florida Governor's Office and the Florida Department of Transportation.

Round Two Score: Killer Highway 80, 2; Herad, 0

Now that was quite a weekend, wasn't it, Louise?

Louise is the wife of Fearless Leader, alias Glenn, alias The Boss, and he's the one who manages to run over photographers' feet at the same time Louise tries to run tanker trucks off the road with a Pinto station wagon.

While Glenn was helping the Herald's owner, Lawton Braswell, open up a new newspaper plant in Hendersonville, N.C. last weekend, Louise managed to sidewise a Belcher Oil Truck, hauling bunker C to the Glades on SR80.

Since she was doing a chore Glenn would have been doing had he been here, she was driving the company's little Pinto instead of her nifty little Trans-Am.

Returning from the coast, she was about to pass a farm tractor and before she knew what was happening, she and herself trying to shoulder thing off the road which was only 10 to 15 times larger and heavier she was.

She made about the same impact she would have if she'd been trying to move the Miami Dolphins' interior line, all by herself.

Matter of fact, the driver of the oil truck said he never even saw her.

Score: Killer 80, 2; R-lie Glade Herald, 0.

I know; I was scored on just a few months ago. Matter of fact, by Saturday night, Louise was already complaining about being a little sore. I couldn't help but gleefully chortle.

"Wait till tomorrow. You'll ache in places you didn't know you had places."

Meanwhile, up in North Carolina, Glenn was amusing himself by running over the foot of the Hendersonville Times-News' photographer.

Fearless Leader said he was backing into the guy's driveway after a night on the town and the shutterbug just let him drive right over his foot.

Maybe it's a new game of chicken, huh, Glenn?

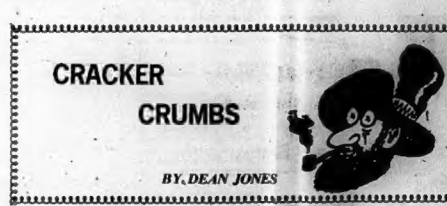

Actually, it worked out sorta nice in one way. Louise probably wasn't looking forward to the ragging she was sure to get from Glenn because of her boo-boo but he sure as heck can't say an awful lot.

Donna Ruth, the city's new librarian, tells me the local library will be celebrating National Library Week next week with week-long festivities.

To kick the party off, Miss Ruth is holding a tea Sunday. To include just about everyone who uses the library, she's placed a moratorium on fines for overdue books and to round it off, there'll be a week-long art show by Ann Tyler's art students.

As Miss Ruth says, this will be a good time to get the library habit. As a heavy reader, I've already found the Belle Glade library is a good place to go if you're looking to buy books or borrow them.

A lot of people aren't aware there is a large selection of books you can buy there for a dime apiece. That ain't a bad bargain no matter how you slice it, and you can slice off some danged good reading from it.

Speaking of National Library Week, you may be interested in learning May 1, besides being celebrated in other parts of the world as May Day, is American Comedy Day—an observance which might better be celebrated a month earlier on April Fools' Day.

Course it could have just as easily been celebrated Monday. In case you were asleep or something, Monday was the day income tax returns were due.

I've heard it said the beauty of the American system of collecting taxes is that it's all voluntary and I read not long ago an Internal Revenue Service official and they're striving to let people know the whole thing is fair.

First of all, I don't know if those who say the whole thing is voluntary have ever given any consideration to what happens if you don't pay your taxes.

Ask the ghost of Al Capone or Joe Bonannano, or Richard M. Nixon.

So far as the rest of it's concerned, just ask me or any other bachelor, man or woman, how fair the system is.

It's rigged, man, rigged. The whole system of deductions is 180 degrees out of phase, if you know what I mean.

Like, you figure: married man with three children as opposed to a single fellow. Who's going to get more benefits from the gummi? The family man, naturally. And that's not even considering the population explosion and all the problem's that's causing.

The way I figure it, there should be no deductions whatever, none. Then a guy who's just staring out with a family shouldn't have to pay anything more or less for the first two children he has.

On the other hand, once the family adds its third kid, the married guy ought to be required to pay $750 extra for every extra child added.

The way the guy who has more children than everybody else on his block pays more towards education, as well as other benefits provided by the gummi.

This brilliant, enlightened plan of taxation would also provide side benefits in a reduced need for housing, food and what have you as well as a cleaner environment since there wouldn't be so many people polluting the air and water.

Of course the taxation plan according to Jones would also mean elimination of the loopholes millionaires find to avoid paying that share of taxes, so everybody could have a little, even the family men.

That's fair taxation.

Boy, you gotta admit one thing: for a 15-month old, I've really gotten around since taking over the position of the Herald Lass.

Set copy, job shop work, sell the newspapers, sell advertising, proofreading...you name it and of Cindy's done it.

Just last week, we were in a rush putting out section B and Glenn told me to put the Home Front together and I'd never done anything like that before.

First of all, you've gotta find out what kind of news stories you have that fit onto the page. Then there's the problem of making all the stories fit and cutting out the ones that don't fit.

That's a job in itself because you've gotta figure out which stories are most important. Like the man said, one definition of news is that news is what the editor says it is.

Only trouble is, is that it isn't always so easy to decide which of two or three stories are most important...or to whom, much less trying to figure out what size to run the pictures.

And then there's always the headlines. Oh, wow, are there ever headlines! What size type? One or two decks? Do we want a kicker (that's the line of type above the main headline) or not?

And all that's not even mentioning making the copy look like it fits or that the spelling's accurate oh and don't forget to put that outline under the picture.

Anyway, that's makeup and layout. Lessee, now how many columns...the words

Growers Seminar Planned

The assessment of property will be the subject of talks set for a sugar cane growers seminar at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the library conference room at the Agricultural Research and Education Center here.

County Agricultural Extension Agent John Cussey said the seminar will feature Hal Porter, the Palm Beach County assessor's office agricultural expert, who will speak on growers' responsibilities to the assessor.

The other speaker will be Palm Beach County Assessor David Reid, who will talk on the progress made over the past few years by his office.

John Takes Oath Of Office

Fred John (above left) became the newest member of the Palm Beach Broward Soil and Water Conservation District last week when Palm Beach County Commissioner E.W. "Bud" Weaver administered the oath of office.

John was elected to the board of supervisors for the district in a special election two weeks ago.

A Sweet Success

From the previous season. At the same time, value per ton rose from $12.94 a year ago to about $16 a ton for this season.

At the current price, Florida's total production for 1973-74 crop will be about 8.7 million tons, a drop of about 800,000 tons from the previous season.

At the same time, value per ton rose from $12.94 a year ago to about $16 a ton for this season.

Florida farmers market close to one-third of the nation's total sugar cane sugar to rank second in the U.S. behind Hawaii. Palm Beach county produces nearly 75 per cent of the state's total with remaining production in Martin, Hendry and Glades counties, said Ronald S. Spencer, Jr., Executive Vice President of the Florida Chamber of Commerce.

Federal agricultural sources estimate the yield per acre to be 32 tons for the current crop year compared to 28.1 tons the previous year. However, the industry expects to harvest 265,400 acres in 1973-74 compared to 249,600 acres in 1972-73.

"Another source of raw sugar are the beet grown in several northern states. In fact, latest statistics show that beet sugar is used in more domestic production than sugar cane sugar," Spencer added.

The Review said sugar production is supplemented in the United States by large imports from the Philippines, the Dominican Republic and other countries.

Workers Sought For Volunteer Action Center

They're looking for people of all kinds of people. The Volunteer Action Center of the Community Services Council of Palm Beach County is using National Volunteer Week, being observed April 21-27, to recruit more unpaid workers.

At least two women from Belle Glade are part of the county-wide volunteer group which attempts to match people who have a little extra time with jobs where their skills can be put to use. Who do they need?

They need musicians, printers, tutors, basketball players, photographers, nurses, dentists, students, retirees, typists and housewives. "If you care," they say, "somebody needs you."

What kinds of jobs are open? They want people to provide financial and budget counsel. They want people who have requested such help to tutor disadvantaged and handicapped children, to host foreign students and to act as scout leaders.

They have jobs of just about every description. And who usually volunteers? Mrs. Mary Foster of 684 S.W. 10th St. and Ms. Dorothea Daniels of 672 S.W. 11th St. are two. Mrs. Foster works with girl scouts and Ms. Daniels works with the Community Action Council. But Mrs. Foster and Ms. Daniels are only two volunteers in a county-wide program. Other volunteers, because someone once helped me," according to VAC Director Mrs. Carol Whitfield. Mrs. Whitfield said there are eight lines of demarcation between VAC, Retired Senior Volunteers Program (RSVP) and the Community Services Council's Information and Referral component but all programs interrelate to some extent.

All three programs are unified by work for the United Way and Mrs. Whitfield said there are approximately 150 agencies, both governmental and private, in the county which have need of volunteers. "Who better help people than people who have had problems themselves?" Mrs. Whitfield queried when asked how volunteers work out in agencies.

The observation of National Volunteer Week will be kicked off Sunday with a Volunteer Recognition Tea at 5 p.m. at Ambassadors International at 1111 South Papper Drive in West Palm Beach.

Services Held For T.M. Daniels, 81

Funeral services for Theodore Monroe Daniels, a civil engineer who designed many of the major pumping stations in the Glades, were held Monday morning at the Miron Funeral Home Chapel.

Daniels, 81, died Sunday at his home at 200 N.W. 16th St. He was born in Waterloo, Iowa and is a longtime resident of Lake Harbor and Belle Glade. He was retired but during the early years of the Glades development, he surveyed the Miami Canal from the Lake to Miami, engineering and helped construct the pumping stations.

Benefit Rummage Sale Held

A local man with an advanced kidney disease will be the reason for a rummage sale being held from 7:30 to noon Saturday in the Cicerone parking lot.

The rummage sale will be held by the staff of Roosevelt Elementary School and the proceeds will go to the E.D. Foster family, who live at 155 1/2 W. Third St. North.

Matter has been unable to work since October and has been in the hospital in Miami for the past three weeks. He is expected to remain in the hospital for the next three weeks at least.

Luncheon Set

The Belle Glade Junior Women's Club will be sponsoring a Summer fashion show and luncheon on Saturday, May 18, at the Belle Glade Civic Center.

During the luncheon an auction will be held and several large items will be offered for sale. The event will feature fashions from the Hazz Shop, with Mrs. Roy Hayes coordinating the fashion show.

Here Comes Peter Cottontail To Belle Glade

The Easter Bunny made a number of appearances in the Belle Glade area last week and wound up his yearly tour Easter Day before returning to his burrow for the year.

It was a loving old bunny who made his appearance last week at the West Area Exceptional Education Center at Gove Elementary (right), appearing to highlight an Easter program which included a film and goodies distributed by the wiley old hare himself.

The bunny wound up his Glades trip with a tour of Glades General Hospital Sunday where he visited Mrs. Marianne Cowart and her two daughters (below) before visiting Glades Correctional Institution to see the children there as they enjoyed an Easter egg hunt.

McCrory's manager Melvyn Kooper acted as the bunny's agent on Good Friday when he handed a giant Easter basket to little Larry Lynn Cardin II and his mother, Mrs. Karen Cardin of 1117 N.W. 16th St. Larry won the basket in a drawing held at the Glades Plaza store and Kooper said he received, "at least 50 calls Friday," from people who wanted to know who won the basket.

For all six of these days no fees on overdue books will be charged and lost cards can be replaced free of charge. Also in celebration of National Library Week, we have a large selection of new books. In conjunction with National Library Week, Mrs. Ann Tyler's students will have an art show in the library's multi-purpose room.

On Sunday, "In honor of National Library Week and to open the art show, there will be a sale from 3 to 5 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the library. The public is cordially invited to attend."

National Library Week is a good time to get to know your library, and to get into the habit of using the library. So come and join our celebration. Because of preparation for the art show, there will not be a children's movie Saturday. We will have a movie again April 27.

T.S. Watson of Watson Ford, Inc. in Belle Glade, has completed an Operations Planning seminar conducted by Ford's Atlanta Marketing Institute.

The course is one of a number offered by Ford Marketing Institutes to benefit Ford and Lincoln-Mercury customers by emphasizing after-purchase service and customer relations, according to Lester C. Brock, director of Ford's Atlanta Institute.

Look-Up In The Air, It's...

The martial arts have become a family affair as young and old alike turn out for karate classes two nights a week and Saturdays at the Glades Central High School gymnasium. One of the youngest Glades residents to don the white belt of the student is Dee Dee Alford (above). To the left, instructors Earl Kents (flying through the air) and Catalina Lopez demonstrate some of the moves. Kents later demonstrated the use of Nun Chucks, two sticks connected by a rawhide thong used in the orient as a weapon.

At least two local women will be participating in the Florida Women's State Golf Association Tournament next week at King's Inn Country Club.

Mrs. Lillian Beverly of 175 N. Flame Ave. in Pahokee (but who is a member of the Belle Glade Country Club) and Mrs.

Kathryn Weeks of 782 W. Canal St. South will be starting in a field of 288 players. Mrs. Beverly has a handicap of 17 and Mrs. Weeks has a handicap of 19. They will be qualifying April 21-22 for match play on April 23-24, trying for the flight of 10 women vying for the championship.

Even if they don't wind up on the championship flight, the two Belle Glade women still have a chance of playing one of ten more flights. Association spokesman Evelyn Schaad said there are 44 entries with handicaps of nine or less, "which indicates a strong field."

Last week I mentioned to someone I was going to the creek for the weekend. He grinned and said it would probably be in my next column. I thought, "Well, why not?" After all, camping is a hobby and this column is supposed to be about sports and hobbies, although I admit to getting off the track sometimes. So here I am, a little for the better and a lot for the worse. Unfortunately, I caught something from the trip and it sure wasn't fish. I'm sure many people around here know where Fishing Creek is, beside a small town called Palmdale. Palmdale is one of those places you go through where you shouldn't blink cuz you might miss it. One of the good things about camping, there's never a dull moment. Not thirty minutes after I got there the guys threw me in the creek. Now that creek has really gone down lately because of the dry weather and it wasn't even waist high where we were, so you can imagine the sand I got in my jeans. But here I was sitting calmly in a lawn chair reading a book when I heard my brother whisper something at my head and then he and Ralph Lopez started ambushing me in my direction. I jumped and ran for the woods. Unfortunately I ran around the car right into a dead end and they caught me. In another thirty seconds I was sitting in the creek, water gushing all over me. Of course, I wasn't the only one. My sister, Jeff and Ralph's wife followed me, though not voluntarily. And what is camping without a few wild animals? We went walking Saturday night and met a couple of armadillos. Then when we were sleeping, or rather trying to, that same night a loud commotion woke us up. Some animal was running through the camp and Max (short for Maxine, the dog) was barking and chasing it. Next morning we found out it was a bobcat. And then there was the usual number of squirrels climbing in the trees. We were lucky though, usually the raccoons sneak into camp at night and look around for something to get into. Wild animals weren't the only thing. The strippers, rather strippers in this case, hit the creek around midnight. Two camps down from us were a bunch of guys who apparently decided to stir up some fun. They all stripped down and went skinny dipping and swinging on a rope out into the water. Some enterprising soul decided to get a spotlight and flash it on them, much to the amusement of the other campers. Many of you who go camping will agree there's nothing so beautiful as an early morning sunrise in the woods. I love to get up early enough to watch the sun rise, but this time I missed it. In fact, at 9 o'clock I was still asleep until Harry shook the tent and bellowed, "You know what I do to anyone who isn't up before nine in the morning? I tear their tent down with them inside it." You can believe I got up because Harry is just the sort of guy who might try it. Don't ever believe that saying "Lighting down" strikes twice in the same place. The last two times we went camping it did, in the form of thunderstorms and a leaky tent. But this time it turned out great. If you haven't been camping in quite a while, gather up your gear and go. And if you've never been, start now because you're really missing something.

Rebels Quartet To Appear

The well-known Rebels Quartet will appear at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Church of God of Belle Glade 301 S.E. Ave. E in a gospel singing performance according to Fishers of Men Fellowship Club member Dennis Deaton. Deaton said the Rebels Quartet have appeared at the local church several times in the past, coming to Belle Glade about this time last year.

Good Friday Service Called Best Ever

By Rev. Abe Castor

Christian history was made in Belle Glade on Good Friday night last week, in one of the most successful Good Friday Services ever held in the Glades area.

The sanctuary of Everglades Presbyterian Church, North Main St. at Ave. K, was filled to capacity with overflow seating in all aisles. Approximately 250 persons attended, representing 12 churches of the Belle Glade area.

The processional hymn, "There is a Fountain Filled With Blood," was led by a processional of three choirs, the Youth Choir of Mt. Zion African Methodist Episcopal Church, followed by the adult choir and Boy's Choir of Everglades Presbyterian Church.

They were accompanied by Mrs. Robert Badman, organist, and Mrs. Willie Rountree, pianist.

Following the enthusiastic singing of "There is Power in the Blood," the climax of the service was the dynamic sermon, "What the Cross Should Mean to Me," by the Rev. Mark O'Farrell, pastor of the Belle Glade Alliance Church.

Rev. O'Farrell emphasized that the cross means "substitution," that Christ died for our sins in our place using the text, "He himself bore our sins in his body on the tree..." 1 Peter 2:24.

Mrs. Katherine Price, resident of the Glades for more than 40 years, and well known for her benevolent work with "grants and interacial ministry," said, "This was the most impressive, most inclusive, far-reaching Good Friday Service that I have attended in 20 years."

In her personal contact with many individuals of the participating congregations, she stated, "It is the solid reason of opinion of people in the churches that Good Friday Service was one of the finest, best-planned, racially-inclusive Good Friday services in Belle Glade history."

Mrs. Price further states that special commendation is due to the Youth Choir of Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church, for their excellent rendition of the Biblical Chapter, 1 Corinthians 13, "The Greatest of These is Love," led by Director-Organist, Mrs. Jessie Jenkins, as well as the very appropriate prayer delivered by the Rev. Charles Robinson, New pastor of the Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church of Belle Glade.

The service, lasting almost two hours, but holding the attention of every worshiper, was concluded with an evangelistic invitation to personally accept Christ's death in our behalf, led jointly by the Rev. Abe Castor, host pastor, and the Rev. Mark O'Farrell, the featured guest preacher. The Rev. Abe Castor, organizing chairman for the community-wide service, thanks all the participating congregations for their support in this unified effort to reach and lift up the cross.

Thank You

We would like to take this opportunity to express our gratitude and thanks to the many friends and relatives for the food and flowers they provided, as well as the kindnesses they gave us, following the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Mildred Lane Clark.

(Signed)

Lester Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Littleton, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Clarke Jr. and Mrs. Mrs. Bobby O'Steen.

Church Overflowed

The Community United Methodist Church climaxed the week of New Life Mission with an overflow attendance on Easter Sunday.

Attendance was good at all the sessions with Dr. George Foster serving as teacher-evangelist. Both the channel and youth choirs and the men's chorus provided special music.

The evening services concluded with a very special communion service on Maundy Thursday.

On Easter day baptismal services were performed for Craig Derek Green, son of Paul and Martha Green, and William Bayfield Blitch and Joseph Garrett Blitch, sons of Rayford and Bonnie Blitch.

Received into the church membership were Mrs. Jolli Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Feriers, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mays and Green Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Franklin, Mr. Earl Hartman, Mrs. Betty Hartman, Mrs. Kenneth Perkins, and Mrs. Helen McCormick.

The Parson Pontificates

I often look back on life and thank God that he didn't answer some of my prayers. I've almost decided that He knows more about what I need than I do. And how selfish some of my prayers have been! A Sunday School teacher was teaching the little children to pray, "Let us thank God for the nice rain we had Saturday," she said, "Yes," piped up little Tommy, "It spoiled my picnic!" How many good things we reject and reject because they spoil our picnic! Let's be more thankful to God in our praying, and less dissatisfied in our demands upon Him. [See St. Matthew 6:3, 32]

Founders Day Plans Released

Belle Glade members of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority will help celebrate a nation-wide Founders Day at 7:30 p.m. April 29 at the municipal County Club, marking the third anniversary of the club's founding.

Members of six chapters locally according to Activities Chairman Mrs. Warren Battle of Nu Kappa Chapter. The toastmistress for the evening is Mrs. J.D. Lee III.

Mrs. Frank Teets will present a special message from the sorority's president which she has received from the sorority's world headquarters in Kansas City, Mo. The theme for the new year, "Gateway to Happiness," will be officially launched.

The organization was founded in Abilene, Kansas by Walter W. Ross and is a social, cultural and service organization for women with more than 250,000 members in 10,500 chapters organized in 24 countries.

The organization is non-political and non-sectarian and is not connected with any school or college.

Chapters of five different degrees meet the growing needs of various age groups. Members are active in small Chapter groups and each Chapter adapts the plans for social, civic, and service and cultural activities to fit the interests of her own members.

When Beta Sigma Phi events or civic endeavors are larger than one Chapter can plan alone, all Chapters in a city or area combine their strength. There are State Conventions each year which any member may attend.

Internationally the Chapters have created three special funds: The International Loan Fund, through which members help one another; the International Endowment Fund, through which vast sums have been donated to cancer research, cystic fibrosis, homes for underprivileged children, and many other causes; and the Exemplar Fund, which helps to support Literacy Village in India.

Everglades Memorial Receives Accreditation

Everglades Memorial Hospital has been accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH) according to Fred Nalin, Jr., Administrator.

This accreditation, which began from February 1974 to February 1976, is the result of a complete survey made by field representatives of the Joint Commission's Hospital Accreditation Program (HAP). Accreditation indicates that this facility has chosen to operate according to standards set by JCAH and that the facility has, in the main, met these standards.

The standards, published as the Accreditation Manual for Hospitals, set forth optimal achievable goals of excellence against which a facility can measure itself and be measured by the Joint Commission's survey.

Everglades Memorial Hospital is one of approximately 4,900 general hospitals throughout the U.S. that have earned this recognition. There are approximately 5,600 general hospitals in the U.S.

The Joint Commission's accreditation surveys are voluntary. It is not legally necessary for a hospital to be accredited, but health care facilities have sought accreditation because it represents a benchmark of quality that is higher than governmental licensure alone.

The chief aim of the Hospital Accreditation Program, one of four such programs under the JCAH umbrella, is to help hospitals in their pursuit of excellence and thereby provide a higher quality of care to patients.

The program also seeks to recognize, and to identify for the public, those facilities which meet its standards. The Joint Commission began in 1918 under the auspices of the American College of Surgeons. It was incorporated in 1961 with the support of its present member organizations: the American College of Surgeons, the American College of Physicians, the American Hospital Association, and the American Medical Association.

JCAH is a Chicago-based, non-governmental, not-for-profit organization. In addition to hospitals, it has programs for the accreditation of long-term care facilities, psychiatric facilities, and facilities for the mentally retarded.

Poster Contest Begun

The Belle Glade Minnie Library is sponsoring a poster contest for fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth graders. This is a "Creative Art Poster by Doing Your Own Thing" contest.

The only rule is to make sure National Library Week, April 21-27, is mentioned. The winning poster will be hung in the library and the artist will receive a prize. Bring posters to the library before noon April 19. Gladeview Elementary School is the honored school for April. This means that during April, students from Gladeview do not have to pay fines on overdue books, and if they have lost their library card they can get a new one free. Glades Day School has a student art display in the library for public viewing during the month of April.

Phone Company Toured

Mu Upsilon members met at the Southern Bell Telephone office on S.W. 1 Street where vice president James Henderson led them on a tour of the central office.

Henderson explained how a customer's phone is wired, using the local step by step switching equipment. The girls also saw the phone company's self-contained power system mobile phone units and toll facilities.

Then Mrs. Laverne Miller led a tour through the traffic department to explain how calls are answered by telephone operators, how long distance calls are lines, and how many ways operators can assist a customer.

Members then reconvened at the home of sponsor, Mrs. Dot Averill. After a short business meeting, ballots were cast to elect next year's officers.

Carol Zumpf was elected president; Rosalie Black, vice president; Patsy Varsell, treasurer; Mary Dexter, recording secretary; Donna Schoenfeld, corresponding secretary; Rhonda Stokes, extension officer; Arlita Kewen, city council representative and Dorene Bailey, city council alternate.

Mrs. Averill served time shortbread and pound cake to the membership.

CARPETS
Carpet cleaning and maintenance services.

Carpet is an extremely good value, because, needing no wax, they continue to maintain their floor. In view of this, they deserve the red carpet treatment when it comes to care.

Maintaining their property helps them to retain their thermal, acoustical and psychological benefits. Here are some hints about carpet care published from two booklets on the subject from Monette Textiles Company, one of very few companies making this free literature available.

1. Soak up as much of the staining material as possible with a towel.
2. Never rub a spot. This will only spread the stain and distort the pile.
3. Before using any cleaning agent, try a small amount on an inconspicuous corner of the carpet.
4. Always start from the edge of a spot and work toward the center.
5. Apply a small amount of cleaning agent to the spot and remove the discolored stain with a clean white towel.
6. Repeat the above procedure until the stain has disappeared and place clean towels or absorbent tissue with weights on the spot until it is dry.

There are only a few of the basic groups of stains that should be followed in attempting to remove a stain regardless of its type. If unsure, or in doubt, always call professionals. They have special equipment and many years of experience.

If you want further, detailed information, you can obtain free copies of either booklet, "How to Care for Your Carpet of Acrylic Fiber" and "How to Make Lighter Work of Housekeeping with Your Carpet of Cuddo Nylon," by writing to Monette, Department of JPB 211, 1114 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10020.
